Paringa Archers Shine at the National Indoor Championships

Paul Fahey (President) says: Congratulations to all Paringa members who competed in the National Indoor Championship over the weekend 10-11 July – there were some fabulous results. A total of eight Paringa archers were awarded first place (Taylah Freeman, Trici Freeman, Michael Skrinnikoff, Cameron Schwabe, Jeff Garner with two firsts, Stuart Paul and Paul Korosi) in the state and two awarded first place nationally (Taylah and Trici)! A truly great performance. Keep up the fine shooting. It's also worth mentioning that Jeff was only beaten by Rod Brier-Mills who was previously a Paringa member.

Armoury Bow Racks

Alec Skrinnikoff has finished installing the new racks and a battery-powered lighting system. He's also put an old rack outside which makes it easy to make bows available for Come & Try sessions. Much appreciated Alec!

A=Indoor (60@18m on 40cm) B=60@20m on 122cm (junior Newcastle)

It was probably the coldest shooting day of the year so far – ice was found at the start of the Come & Try session. Wearing thermals and a hat was a good idea – gloves would have helped, but probably upset your form. So it is a wonder that so many archers showed an improvement on their ratings – in such cold weather it would be easy to claim the weather had the advantage! Phil was a newly rated archer and his form was consistent – but now he has a rating, he can start to demonstrate what those Xs can do! Plucky Bianca joined him in the junior Newcastle (thank you Nick!!) and improved over her previous personal best. Brian continues to improve (what's the secret Brian? He even shot one of his own nocks off...Wow!). Buoyed up by his placings in the national ranking list, Paul showed us just how to use a three spot target, with an interesting technique of shooting top to bottom, followed by bottom to top. Peter Fisher very nearly met his previous top form, whilst Michael Skrinnikoff must have been thinking about his dad finishing the new bow racks. His new inches will soon restore and improve upon his scores.

	Round	Score	Rating change	New Rating
Caitlin Street (barebow)	G	538	+10	12
Brian Swinton	C	644	+9	46
Peter Fisher	C	819	+5	79
Noel Frichot	G	542	+2	23
Cameron Schwabe	C	402	0	31
Andrew Fluck (recurve)	C	436	-11	41

C=Canberra (30@ 60/50/40m: 122cm)

G=Geelong(90@30m:122cm)

It was a delight to see Caitlin rejoin the group after an extended absence. She shot wisely, improving with leaps and bounds as the afternoon progressed, thus establishing a poor initial rating then trumping it soundly with a fantastic improvement in her overall score. Well done! Cameron bravely shot distances he's not tried before and did exceptionally well considering this. Noel was persuaded to join in and improved his rating by two points. Brian goes from strength to strength, getting better all the time. Now we know who is doing most out-of-hours practice!

Ladies' Loo

FIXED! Thanks to Paul Fahey for the replacement cistern.

Grand Slam?

With Taylah Freeman's win in the Australian Indoors, we think this gives her the "Grand Slam" so to speak. For 2010 she is Australian Champion in all 5 disciplines of archery; Target, Field, Clout, Matchplay and Indoors. We think this may be first time this has happened.

The other Freeman information is that Clint leaves 1st August for the World Cup round in America where the Commonwealth Games Team will be settled. We all know how much this means, so we will be barracking (quietly) for you Clint, and wish you well in your shooting.

Archery Australia Strategic Plan

Following the 2009 Crawford report, Archery Australia is contemplating radical changes where elite athletes and community recreational athletes will share the focus for activity. This is expected to result from centralised record keeping and more local paid support staff.

It's grants season again

Sports & Recreation Tasmania 50% for equipment, facilities etc.: Minor between $500 and $10 000 Major: $15 000 and $80 000.

Tasmanian Community Fund general grants close on 25 August 2010. There are two funding streams – small grants up to $10 000 and over $10 000.

Please bring ideas for applications to the Club meeting on 7th August.

Roster needs you

A few members have been called to other duties from the weekly Come & Try roster. If not replaced, we may have to close to the public once a month, or increase the frequency of duties. Please contact the Secretary to put your name on the list. Duty exempts you from Target Fees, makes your fellow Club Members happy, and provides vital income to keep our facilities going.

Final Newsletter?

If you have not renewed your Paringa membership for 2010-11, this will be your last edition. We thank you for your friendship, and hope to renew acquaintance in the future.

Strange – but true – stories of archery elsewhere

New weapon's law will harm archery

From the Herald Scotland by Doug Gillon courtesy Jeff Garner

ARCHERY'S World Cup Final will be staged in Edinburgh's Princes Street in September. It will have some 250m TV viewers, and is the most high-profile platform the sport has enjoyed in Scotland for centuries. Yet it may be the last after the Scottish Parliament failed to support three amendments to the Custodial Sentence and Weapons (Scotland) Act 2007 which requires equipment vendors that sell weapons and blades at events all over the country to get a 'knife dealer's license' for their "normal place of business" but now will also have an additional licence for every other event. A licence is needed for anyone selling, hiring, offering for sale or hire, exposing for sale or hire, lending, or giving a blade. Arrows are listed with blades such as fencing swords and won't be exempted. This will put many archery clubs at risk. Many survive on "come-and-try" days at fetes and galas. Every one of these will now need a knife dealer's license.

Wiltshire vicar revives ancient archery law

Story found by Jeff Garner.

A vicar has revived an ancient law to call members of her parish together for archery practice. The Reverend Mary Edwards, of Collingbourne Ducis, near Marlborough, called residents to the village recreation ground on Friday. Residents were rewarded for complying with the law with a bar, a barbecue and live music. Church warden Mike Cox said: "It seems she's still entitled to do that. I've been checking on the web and most archery experts and clergy seem to agree she is. Though a lot of the laws were repealed, that particular one still stands. So she's entitled to call the men of the village, and presumably the women and children too, to archery practice. Mrs Edwards said: "We are celebrating the building of a new loo. After all these years we have at long last brought running water to the church."
